Eskimos Battled Grimly Trying to Overcome Lead But Were Unsuccessful

Art Gagne and Sheppard Score Two Goals—Final Result Is 2-2—Keats Swings on Carl Battell—Critics Claim Judge of Play Terrible—Barney Stanley Injured

Exclusive to Bulletin.
VANCOUVER, March 23.—Edmonton Eskimos gave everything they had in their game battle in the W.H.L. final here last night, but their best effort failed them only a 2 all tie. Victoria Canucks retained their title and today are en route east, where they will meet the N. H. L. winner for the Stanley Cup. The Islanders with the round, 5 to 2.

Those thousand fans went wild as the prairie crew tied the series in the first period and were playing the champions off their feet. It was a neutral crowd that came to see a close battle, and they saw it. Edmonton furnished the thrill and a fitting climax to the season's close. But the Victorian clamped on the brakes and by playing a careful, defensive game they were finally managed to reverse their advantage.

IT WAS GREAT PUCK ARGUMENT

It was the greatest puck battle ever staged on the coast. Everything known to the game was done up and until Frank Ferguson netted the rubber on a brilliant run a few minutes before the final goal was the issue decided.

Edmonton really lost the game through lack of strong substitutes. Barney Stanley, who had been injured at the end of the second period and was unable to continue, failed in deciding the contest. He was replaced by Bobby Benson, who played well, but Stanley's speedy play was missing.

COUGARS RANG

Victoria's strong belief men, When Ferguson, Walker and Hart were in the line, the Cougars were meeting and Fredrickson, all strong players, had a hard time of it. The defense and was used frequently in place of either Hart or Ferguson.

Stanley Brillant, Stuart's first period, one of the first exhibitions of net minding in the league. He beat the Cougars' forwards time and again and several times, including Hart, at the other end was good on had not nearly as much work to do.

His Grace

His Grace was himself last night. He organized the forward line, the defense, the defense and Sheppard guided the defense. The defense was a combined effort which had the defense looking to break up the attack. Ferguson was the defense, looking to break up the attack. Ferguson was the defense, looking to break up the attack.

Eks on Attack

Cackling jumpers, the attack from the front of the Eskimo line, the defense was a combined effort which had the defense looking to break up the attack. Ferguson was the defense, looking to break up the attack.

A minute later

A minute later the Eskimo was right on the net but he had not. Keats was next to fight but Holmes outplayed him at the goal. Holmes outplayed him at the goal. Holmes outplayed him at the goal.

Killing Play

The fast play was killing in the Eskimo and the Cougars' first period. With their first period, the Eskimo played a combined effort which had the defense looking to break up the attack.

Second Period

Enough play marked the start of the second period. Fredrickson was back in the line. Fredrickson was back in the line. Fredrickson was back in the line.

Surgeon Grafts Monkey Glands; Stop Suicides in Reservoir

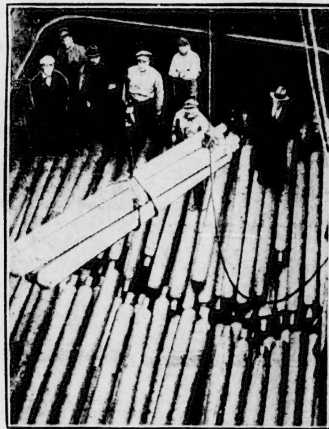

"PERFECT MAN" was the title bestowed upon Miss Helen Walker, a co-ed at the University of Kansas, at the Puff Pant Prom held at the Sunflower institution recently. The prom is an annual affair at which the girls dress as men, but to which no males are invited.

THESE FOUR WOMEN are the champion female wrestlers of Japan. The photo was taken in Tokio. Seated is the referee who officiates at their matches. The skirts worn by the Amazons correspond to the championship belts worn by male wrestlers. Their names are: Diamond Kiki, Dragon River Saye, Tokaido Hiss and Plum Blossom Shima.

DR. CARDENAL, the noted Spanish surgeon, who, last week in the United States, completed five important operations after the Voronoff principle, grafting monkey glands to various patients. In one instance suprarenal capsules were grafted to a woman ill with Addison's Disease, it being the only case known to medical science thus treated, it is said.

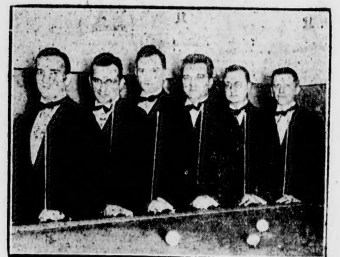

LEFT: HYDROGEN for the Italian dirigible Norge, to be used in the Amundsen polar flight, being shipped from Genoa. The giant aircraft is now on its way to Spitzbergen where it will be met by Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth.

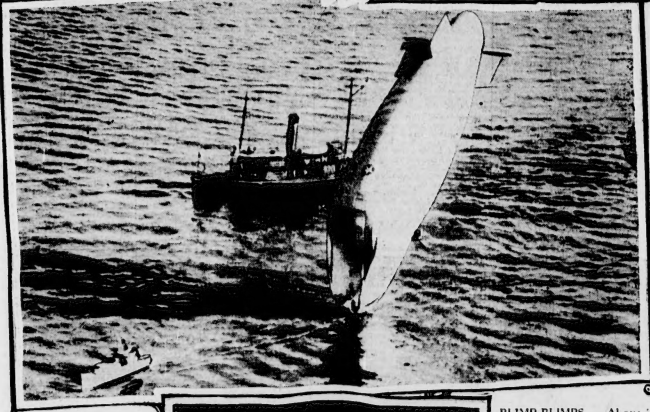

UNWEARIED AND UNWORRIED: GEN. MITCHELL isn't losing any sleep over his recent enforced break with the United States air service as this photo, which was taken on his arrival last week to fill a lecture engagement at St. Paul, clearly shows. He continues to lambaste the current army and navy policies and to plead for a distinct independent bureau of aeronautics.

UNITED STATES LAWMAKERS GO TO SCHOOL — The class in parliamentary procedure for new members of congress of the United States, organized at the suggestion of Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ohio, starts its sessions at Washington. Prof. Lebr. Fess, the house parliamentarian, is shown addressing his class which includes Mrs. Julius Kahn, the new member from California.

FRATERNAL SEXTET CHALLENGES WORLD — The six Steinbagger brothers, of Brooklyn, all crack billiardists, who challenge any six brothers, or more or less, in the three styles of billiard play. Left to right: Lawrence, George, Charles (champion of the family), Frank, Dr. W.F.C., Cornell graduate, and John, a lawyer.

BLIMP BLIMPS — Above is the first aerial photograph of the United States Army air service blimp TA-5 making its forced landing off Hampton Road, Va., last week. The big blimp was carrying three men who were taken off the gondola by tugs which were rushed to the scene. The ship will be repaired and placed back in the service.

GERMAN WINS CUE TITLE — Edward Hagenlacher, with the balls well bunched in his 18.2 ball-line championship match with Jake Schaefer at Philadelphia. Schaefer outplayed his rival in the final block, but the lead of the foreigner, who is the first German to capture the title, was too great. The final score was 1,500 to 1,344.

WOULD STOP BUTTERFLIES WITH BROKEN WINGS — This wire fence, seven feet high, is being erected around the reservoir in Central Park, New York, to prevent those bent on taking their lives from throwing themselves into the civic drinking water. Photo shows a workman putting the finishing touches on the barrier.

Exclusive to Bulletin.
WENIPESQ, March 28.—Liverpool cables came quite a bit weaker this morning and the market displayed a slipping tendency for the first couple of hours of trading.

tion into the part of Broomball that the Argentine agent had over estimated and produced a considerable surplus and a reduction in Broomball's estimate of from 140,000,000 to 110,000,000. The Argentine agent had also overestimated the price from the 1.44 level to well above the 1.47 or more than a cent above the Chicago of Monday.

The Chicago market opened strong but the developed bullish tendency which had been synthetic response in Wheat.

Flood news for Canada was contained in the Broomball cable which was a bona fide news item. It will be absorbed without difficulty because Argentina is unable to furnish the usual quantities and quantities this week.

Germans control the wheat markets in the Argentine and there is a possibility that they will have deliberately conspired a conspiracy to depress the price obtained for Canada's wheat.
